

HAWAII'S THE COFFEE BEAN & TEA LEAF® STORES
SELECT SKYWAVE TO PROVIDE WIFI FOR CUSTOMERS

This is how the WiFi service at The Coffee Bean & Tea Leaf® works: Upon request, a customer is given a custom pass with a unique code, good for 60 minutes of WiFi access. When the hour has expired, the customer may receive another pass by purchasing an additional beverage or food item. The passes are good only at The Coffee Bean & Tea Leaf® hotspot locations in Hawaii.

“SkyWave’s managed WiFi platform enables us to offer wireless broadband service free to end-users while being able to control access, said Joshua Beil, President and Cofounder of SkyWave. “We are thrilled to have been selected as the WiFi vendor of choice, and we look forward to forging a long-term relationship with The Coffee Bean & Tea Leaf® in Hawaii.”

“SkyWave demonstrated that they had the tools and talent necessary to execute on our strict requirements, “said Teppi Waxman. “We were impressed with the quality of their service, and know our customers will be pleased as well.”

Founded in 1963, The Coffee Bean & Tea Leaf® is the oldest and largest privately held chain of specialty coffee and tea stores in the United States. The stores in Hawaii offer consumers 32 varieties of the finest grades of Arabica coffee from specially selected estates around the world. All coffee is custom roasted, in small batches, at the facility in Camarillo, California. The stores also offer more than 30 varieties of The Coffee Bean & Tea Leaf® whole leaf teas, as well as fresh baked goods and light entrees.

The Coffee Bean & Tea Leaf® stores in Hawaii are operated by The Sullivan Family of Companies – operators of Foodland Super Market, Ltd., Food Pantry, and Kalama Beach Corporation.
